Crisis Budgeting: What to Focus on First

When unforeseen circumstances arise, many of us go into panic mode. Paying the bills becomes a burden, and budgeting can be confusing. Financially speaking, uncertain times can force us to take a long, hard look at how we're spending our money.

Here are a few suggestions:

Reach for relief. If you've lost your job, apply for unemployment insurance as soon as possible. Although it's not a permanent solution, it does provide a bit of breathing room.

Cut the fat. You may think all of your bills and everything you buy is equally important, but are they all "musts?" Not likely—at least not always.

Look at the things you have on autopay that you might not need or haven't used in five years and get rid of them. Focus on such necessities as your rent, car payment, utilities, phone and food.

Get organized. Once you've cut out non-essentials, it's time to work with what you've got and get yourself straightened out. Search online for budgeting advice and tools that provide guidance on how to spend and save responsibly. Some favorites: Mint.com, Clarity Money, and Quicken.

The more you cut from your spending, the more streamlined this process will be. If you find you have more left over than expected, either save it for future emergencies, or bring back one or two extras you miss the most.

Defer payments when possible. Credit cards and car payments are usually substantial sums you owe monthly. You may have to spend a chunk of time on the phone to defer these payments for now, but you'll be pleased when many of these lenders are able to lighten your load. If they can't defer, a reduced monthly payment may be possible.

If you have federal student loans, you can delay your payments without penalty until Sept. 30, as part of the recently passed coronavirus stimulus package.

Pursue a side hustle. If you're working from home, you are on leave or you have lost your job, you might find yourself with time to spare. Instead of watching TV all day, you can use this time to look for a remote gig online. Skills such as writing, editing, video and photo editing, graphic design and proof-reading have a huge demand online. If you have the right skills, you might also want to look for part-time jobs as a virtual assistant.

Try not to panic. Keeping your cool will allow you to think clearly and take on this challenge. Times of crisis are never easy, but when your budget is less of a burden, you can tend to your family, health, and getting through the storm. Use this as a turning point to save sensibly from here on out.

Working from home? Protect yourself from hackers.

Someone at your workplace no doubt makes sure the networks are secure and safeguards are in place to block bad guys.

And who does that at home? Right. You or no one.

During the current crisis, with employees working at home, many companies have issued employees guidance on how to establish home internet security. It's guidance worth following.

• Change the locks. That means update your software. You might have noticed that software frequently has security updates. That's because smart hackers figured out how to break the software. But what you may not know is that there is a second wave of dumb hackers who just read the security update for tips on how to get the folks who don't update.

It's like they have a key. Your mission is to change the locks and update.

• Use a secret code. Implement two-factor identification. Yes, it is a second step. You will have to put in a new secret code every time you do certain tasks. But it is better than a hacker walking out with your briefcase.

• Use a mask. Meaning, mask your internet activity with a personal Virtual Private Network. It protects your privacy. It doesn't protect you from phishing, malicious software, or digital viruses, but at least you aren't accessing your company website in cyber-public. Check out services like ExpressVPN, NordVPN or Surfshark.

Shopping safety tips

Contactless delivery is the preferred method of acquiring your groceries these days, but it's becoming increasingly difficult to score a delivery time. So, if you must venture out to the store during the COVID-19 pandemic, here are a few smart tips to get you in and out with the least amount of risk.

Make a list. Knowing exactly what you need before you get inside will ensure you can get out as quickly as possible.

Gear up. Be sure to wear a face mask or cloth covering over your nose and mouth, and keep hand sanitizer at the ready. You may want to use a disinfectant wipe on the shopping cart or basket too, as long as you can dispose of it hygienically. If you choose to also wear gloves, be sure to remove them before touching your personal belongings or your face, and dispose of them in a trash receptacle before touching your car, if you drove.

Shop when it's least crowded. With most people working remotely, it can be a little more difficult to predict a store's peak hours these days. However, try to go early in the morning or later at night, and keep six feet of distance between yourself and other shoppers or store employees.

Shop with your eyes, not your hands.

Remember: The more you touch, the higher your chance of contracting or transmitting the virus. Try to only touch the items you intend to buy, because you can still unknowingly spread the virus to others if you're asymptomatic, and vice versa.

Don't touch your face. Keep your hands away from your nose, mouth, and eyes throughout your entire shopping trip, and only cough or sneeze into your elbow. Once you finish checking out, use a hand sanitizing wipe or gel with at least 60 percent alcohol to kill off as many germs as possible until you can properly wash your hands.

Onto the home stretch. Once you bring your groceries home, give your hands a good, thorough washing. Next, wipe down all non-porous packaging—that's plastic, metal, glass, etc.—with a disinfectant wipe or homemade bleach solution. (The CDC suggests 4 teaspoons of bleach per quart of water.) Set cardboard boxes aside without touching them for 24 hours if they don't need refrigeration, or carefully transfer their contents to a clean container and dispose of the outer packaging. As for produce, there's no need to use soap—a good scrub with clean hands under a running faucet should do the trick.

The cleanup after the cleanup. Once your groceries are cleaned and put away, be sure to dispose of the bags you brought them home in, or give your reusable bags a good wash. Then, disinfect any surfaces or counters that the grocery bags or their contents touched. You'll want to do the same for any door knobs, cabinets, and refrigerator handles you touched, as well as your phone, keys, credit card, and anything else you brought with you into the store.

Wash your hands...yes, again. Give your hands one last scrub, dry them well, and be sure to use a bit of lotion to keep your skin from getting dry and cracked. Then you can sit back, relax, and hopefully not have to go through this tiresome process again any time soon.

HOW TO MAKE MONEY ON THE SIDE

Shelter-in-place orders and business closures across the country have many people wondering about the future of the economy and their own personal finances. Whether you're working from home or your hours have been reduced, you can still make some extra money on the side—and from the safety and comfort of your home in most cases.

Tutor kids online. With parents' demands split between their own work and homeschooling their children, many could use an extra (albeit virtual) hand.

Search job boards to work with a family directly, apply to a service such as Tutor.com, or teach English through VIPkid.

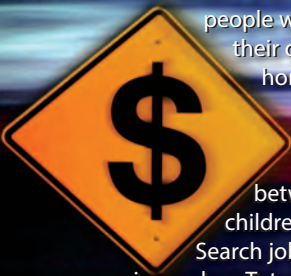

Perform "micro" jobs. If you're the parent working remotely and homeschooling your kids, these types of gigs are perfect for earning supplemental income on your terms. You complete tasks whenever you have spare time, such as audio transcription through Rev, UI testing via TryMyUI, or creative tasks on Fiverr.

Give someone a lift. Help the car-less get to the stores to buy their essential goods by becoming a ride-share driver. Just be sure to sanitize after each passenger to keep everyone safe!

Shop for others. Instead of toting someone around, you can do the heavy lifting for them as a Shipt or Instacart shopper and deliver their groceries right to their doorstep.

Essential industries are still hiring. Most major supermarket chains, Healthfirst and UnitedHealth insurance companies, and financial service providers like Charles Schwab, Deutsche Bank, and Prudential are all currently looking for fresh faces.
